Up to the moment were published 737 papers (including 295 foreign) of about 643 authors (or when repeated 1135 in it foreign 597), 47 countries, on 4807 pages.

Its idea is to present results of current research work in the field of structural analysis and design, architecture, construction and all related subjects pertinent to rationally designed and executed civil engineering and building structures. It is intended that all following topics can be included: spatial lattice structures, plate and shell structures, domes and membranes, high-rise buildings, towers, reservoirs, bridges, thin-walled, tension, cable and pneumatic structures. Any kind of material and structures can be discussed which corresponds with the following definition: lightweight structure belong to civil engineering objects, erected by people, which distinguish in relation to similar ones erected up till now, by relatively small amount of build-in-material and assuring simultaneously extremely high exploitation parameters: large spans of roofs or bridges without middle supports, height of buildings, towers or masts and extremely large useful surface or free volume of buildings, tanks or reservoirs. Also all methods of analysis as: analytical, numerical and experimental are welcomed.

The Colloquium is thought to present the actual achievements and bringing together leading researchers and practitioners in the fields of structural analysis, design and architecture.

We invite you to participate in LSCE 2013 and to visit Olsztyn, too.
